He advised that $100,000 funding was set aside for every school for those purposes that were identified. He said that there was a tool on browardschools.com/smartfutures where you could access specific details concerning all respective schools in Broward County in terms of what money had been added to the project or a general progress report.

VICE MAYOR ANTHONY N. CAGGIANO spoke about Margate Schools being the oldest in the County and that they needed a lot of work as opposed to newer built schools in neighboring Cities.
