He said that they have been working with their consultants that have identified a couple of design alternatives which they think meets the intent of the Commission's previous comments. He said that the requested action was to choose the preferred alternative so that they could move forward with the project.

DIRECTOR OF HIGHWAY DESIGN SERVICES FOR KEITH & SCHNARS P. A. MARK KLEIN explained that they were a consulting firm in Broward County and that they were representing the Florida Department Of Transport (FDOT) and Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO). He said that they were providing them with options that they could review and then decide which options they wish to go forward with. He discussed bicycle improvements on NW 54th Avenue, NW 31st Street and NW 62nd Avenue and said that it was funded and established by the MPO. He said that the roads were divided between Coconut Creek, Coral Springs and Margate and that if they decide which option they wish to go forward with the improvements, they would be required to be in consent and approval of reviewing the projects. He asked them what option would they like them to implement and advised that they could bring back the design plans before they go to construction. He said since the Workshop, Coconut Creek had decided not to participate in the project as they have their own plans for those segments of roadways. He said that Coral Springs had decided to go along with the project and that they had decided on a typical section. He discussed Section A and B which both pertained to Margate and indicated that there was a little more right of way in Section B which would give them more flexibility. He discussed and demonstrated how they could implement a bike lane in the respective corridors which included shared lane markings with sharrows, the right of way and the size of the bike lanes.

DIRECTOR OF HIGHWAY DESIGN SERVICES FOR KEITH & SCHNARS P. A. KLEIN said it was one option and that they had others.

Discussion ensued.

DIRECTOR OF HIGHWAY DESIGN SERVICES FOR KEITH & SCHNARS P. A. KLEIN discussed option two which was a buffer bike lane and said that this was more desirable as it was wider at six feet wide.

Discussion ensued on the size of the lanes and the negatives of reducing the street medians which would affect landscaping.

DIRECTOR OF HIGHWAY DESIGN SERVICES FOR KEITH & SCHNARS P. A. KLEIN discussed the separated path option. He said that this would affect landscaping and the drainage swale which may have to be relocated or modified. He explained that there would be cause for a lot of impact to different things which were out there of which they could do. He repeated that the funding would come from the MPO so that should not be the City's key factor and questioned their thoughts on the best bicycle lane for Margate.
